6 IDENTIFYING WORKS AND EXPRESSIONS

6.0 Purpose and Scope
This chapter provides general guidelines and instructions on:

a) choosing preferred titles for works (see 6.2.2)
b) recording preferred and variant titles for works (see 6.2)
c) recording other identifying attributes of the work or expression (see 6.3–6.13)
d) constructing authorized access points representing the work or expression (see 6.27.1–6.27.3)
e) constructing variant access points representing the work or expression (see 6.27.4).

The chapter provides guidelines on recording titles and other identifying attributes as separate elements, as parts of access points, or as both.

In addition to the general guidelines, the chapter provides instructions on recording preferred and variant titles and other identifying attributes for special types of works and their expressions:

- musical works (see 6.14–6.18)
- legal works (see 6.19–6.22)
- religious works (see 6.23–6.25)
- official communications (see 6.26).

The preferred title for the work is used to construct the authorized access point. The variant title or titles for the work are used to construct variant access points. Other identifying attributes of the work and/or expression may also be included in the access point (see 6.27).

Authorized access points representing works and expressions can be used for different purposes. They provide the means for:

a) bringing together all descriptions of resources embodying a work when various manifestations have appeared under various titles
b) identifying a work when the title by which it is known differs from the title proper of the resource being described
c) differentiating between two or more works with the same title
d) organizing hierarchical displays of descriptions for resources embodying different expressions of a work
e) recording a relationship to a related work (see chapter 25) or a related expression (see chapter 26).

In addition to the general guidelines, the chapter provides instructions on constructing authorized and variant access points for special types of works and expressions:

- musical works and expressions (see 6.28)
- legal works and expressions (see 6.29)
- religious works and expressions (see 6.30)
- official communications (see 6.31).
6.1 General Guidelines on Identifying Works and Expressions

6.1.1 Sources of Information
Take the title or titles of the work from any source.

For additional guidance on sources of information for the preferred title for the work, see 6.2.2.2.

Take information on other identifying attributes of works and expressions from any source.

6.1.2 Using Access Points to Represent Works and Expressions
An authorized access point is one of the techniques used to represent:

- a work or expression embodied in a manifestation (see 17.4.2)

  or

- a related work (see 25.1)

  or

- a related expression (see 26.1).

When constructing authorized access points, apply the guidelines at 6.27.1–6.27.3.

When constructing variant access points, apply the guidelines at 6.27.4.

6.1.3 Changes Affecting the Identification of a Work

6.1.3.1 Works Issued as Multipart Monographs
For works issued as multipart monographs:

If:

- a new description is created as the result of a change in mode of issuance or media type (see 1.6.1)

  and

- there is also a change in responsibility for the work

then:

- construct the authorized access point for the work to reflect responsibility for the work as represented in the part used as the basis for the new description (see 2.1).

Consider changes in responsibility requiring the construction of an authorized access point representing a new work to include the following:

- a change affecting the authorized access point representing a person, family, or corporate body that is used in constructing the authorized access point representing the work (see

  6.27.1.1–6.27.1.8)

- a change affecting the name of a person, family, or corporate body used as an addition to the authorized access point representing the work (see 6.27.1.9).

6.1.3.2 Works Issued as Serials
For works issued as serials:

If:

- there is a change in responsibility (see 6.1.3.2.1)

  or

- there is a major change in title proper (6.1.3.2.2).

then:

- construct the authorized access point to represent a new work.

6.1.3.2.1 Change in Responsibility for the Work
If there is a change in responsibility, construct the authorized access point representing the work to reflect responsibility for the work as represented in the issue or part of the serial used as the basis for the new description (see 2.1).

Consider changes in responsibility affecting the construction of the authorized access point for the work to include the following:

b) a change affecting the name of a person, family, or corporate body used as an addition to the authorized access point representing the work (see 6.27.1.9).

6.1.3.2.2 Major Change in the Title Proper
If there is a major change in the title proper (see 2.3.2.13.1), construct the authorized access point representing the work to reflect the title as represented in the issue or part of the serial used as the basis for the new description (see 2.1).

6.1.3.3 Works Issued as Integrating Resources
For works issued as integrating resources:
If:
- there is a change in responsibility (see 6.1.3.3.1)
- or
- there is a change in title proper (6.1.3.3.2).

then:
revise the authorized access point representing the work to reflect the latest iteration.

6.1.3.3.1 Change in Responsibility for the Work
If there is a change in responsibility, revise the authorized access point representing the work to reflect responsibility for the work as represented in the later iteration (see 2.1). Use the former authorized access point as a variant access point representing the work.

Consider changes in responsibility affecting the construction of the authorized access point representing the work to include the following:

a) a change affecting the authorized access point representing a person, family, or corporate body that is used in constructing the authorized access point representing the work (see 6.27.1.1–6.27.1.8)

b) a change affecting the name of a person, family, or corporate body used as an addition to the authorized access point representing the work (see 6.27.1.9).

6.1.3.3.2 Change in the Title Proper
If there is any change in the title proper, revise the authorized access point representing the work to reflect the title as represented in the later iteration (see 2.1.2.4). Use the former authorized access point as a variant access point representing the work.

6.2 Title of the Work

CORE ELEMENT

Preferred title for the work is a core element. Variant titles for the work are optional.

6.2.1 Basic Instructions on Recording Titles of Works

6.2.1.1 Scope
A title of the work is a word, character, or group of words and/or characters by which a work is known.

When identifying works, there are two categories of titles:

6.2.1.2 Sources of Information
Take the title or titles of the work from any source.
For additional guidance on sources of information for the preferred title for the work, see 6.2.2.2.

History of the monographic series Manuscript report series

Book of the dead is the common name for an ancient Egyptian collection of funerary texts made up of spells or magic formulas, placed in tombs and believed to protect and aid the deceased in the hereafter. Probably compiled and re-edited during the 16th century BC, the collection included Coffin texts dating from approximately 2000 BC, Pyramid texts dating from approximately 2400 BC, and other writings. Later compilations included hymns to Re, the sun god. Numerous authors, compilers, and sources contributed to the work. Scribes copied the texts on rolls of papyrus, often colourfully illustrated, and sold them to individuals for burial use. Many copies of the book have been found in Egyptian tombs, but none contains all of the approximately 200 known chapters. The collection, literally titled “The Chapters of Coming-Forth-by-Day,” received its present name from Karl Richard Lepsius, German Egyptologist who published the first collection of the texts in 1842. The common name for the manuscript as a physical entity is Papyrus of Ani

For other types of official communications, apply the general guidelines at 6.2.2.2.

6.26.2.3 Choosing the Preferred Title for an Official Communication Choose the preferred title for an official communication by applying the instructions at 6.2.2.3–6.2.2.7.

Exceptions

6.26.3.2 Sources of Information
Take variant titles for an official communication from resources embodying the work and/or from reference sources.

6.26.3.3 General Guidelines on Recording Variant Titles for Official Communications Record variant titles for official communications by applying the basic instructions at 6.2.1.
Record a variant title for the work when it is different from the title recorded as the preferred title. Record as a variant title:

a title or form of title under which the work has been issued or cited in reference sources

or

a title resulting from a different transliteration of the title.
Exception

Record a title appearing on a manifestation of the work as a variant title for the work only in the following case:

For a part or parts of a work, see 6.27.2.

For new expressions of an existing work (e.g., abridgements, translations), see 6.27.3.
